

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

THE
AMERICAN JOURNAL
OF
SEMITIC LANGUAGES
AND LITERATURES
(CONTINUING "HEBRAICA")

EDITOR

WILLIAM RAINEY HARPER

MANAGING EDITOR

ROBERT FRANCIS HARPER

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

EMIL GUSTAV HIRSCH

IRA MAURICE PRICE

JAMES RICHARD JEWETT

JAMES HENRY BREASTED

The University of Chicago Press

CHICAGO AND NEW YORK

A GREAT DISCOVERY

Every new user of Pears' Soap makes the discovery that no other soap can be found so delightful and effective to use and that PEAR'S' is matchless for the complexion

OF ALL SCENTED SOAPS PEAR'S' OTTO OF ROSE IS THE BEST.
"All rights secured."

THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF SEMITIC LANGUAGES AND LITERATURES

Continuing HEBRAICA

PUBLISHED QUARTERLY IN THE MONTHS OF JANUARY, APRIL, JULY, AND OCTOBER

TABLE OF CONTENTS

JULY, 1906

I. THE ETYMOLOGY OF MOHEL, CIRCUMCISER. By Paul Haupt.	- - -	249-256
II. SEMITIC VERBS DERIVED FROM PARTICLES. By Paul Haupt.	- - -	257-261
III. INSCRIBED PALMYRENE MONUMENTS IN THE MUSEUM OF THE SYRIAN PROTESTANT COLLEGE, BEIRUT. By Harvey Porter and Charles C. Torrey.	- - - - -	262-271
IV. RECENT CONTRIBUTIONS TO ASSYRIOLOGY. By W. Muss-Arnolt.	- - -	272-286
V. A MANDÆAN HYMN ON THE SOUL. By Schulim Ochser.	- - -	287-291
VI. SOME CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE INTERPRETATION OF THE SONG OF SONGS. Suggested by Travel in Palestine. By Hans H. Spoer.	- - -	292-301
VII. BOOK NOTICES. - - - - -	- - -	302-306
Max Löhr, Der vulgärarabische Dialekt von Jerusalem , Hans H. Spoer.	- - -
VIII. GENERAL INDEX. - - - - -	- - -	307, 308

ANNOUNCEMENT

The policy of The American Journal of Semitic Languages and Literatures is 1) to encourage the scientific study of the Semitic Languages and Literatures; 2) to furnish information concerning the work of Semitic students, at home and abroad; and 3) to act as a medium for the publication of scientific contributions in these departments.

Articles will be published in German, French, and Latin as well as in English.

Editorial communications and manuscripts should be addressed to the Managing Editor, The American Journal of Semitic Languages and Literatures, The University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.

Business correspondence should be addressed to The University of Chicago Press, Chicago, Ill.

Subscriptions, $4.00 per year. Single copies $1.25. Postage prepaid by publishers for all subscriptions in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, Panama Canal Zone, Republic of Panama, Hawaiian Islands, Philippine Islands, Guam, Tutuila (Samoa), Shanghai. For all other countries in the Postal Union 25 cents for postage should be added to the subscription price. Remittances should be made payable to the University of Chicago Press, and should be in Chicago or New York exchange, postal or express money order. If local check is used 10 cents must be added for collection.

Claims for missing numbers should be made within the month following the regular month of publication. The publishers expect to supply missing numbers free only when they have been lost in transit.

The following agents are recognized:

For the European continent, Otto Harrassowitz, 14 Querstrasse, Leipzig, Germany.

For Great Britain, Luzac & Company, 46 Great Russell Street, London, England.

Entered September 26, 1896, at the Post-Office at Chicago, Ill., as second-class matter, under Act of Congress March 3, 1879.

The Finality of the Christian Religion

— BY —

GEORGE BURMAN FOSTER

Professor of the Philosophy of Religion in the University of Chicago

A work of profound interest to students of religion has recently appeared in The Finality of the Christian Religion, by George Burman Foster. ¶The material of the book was first employed by Professor Foster in a course of lectures delivered at Harvard in 1893 and 1894. ¶So deeply were his hearers impressed that they urged him to give the work permanent form, and this he has at length done. ¶A high authority, on reading the advance-sheets, predicted that this would prove to be “the most important religious book of the generation”—that it would “occupy in theology a position analogous to that of Kant’s Critique in philosophy.” ¶Certainly no reader will escape a sense of sincere admiration at the power with which the problem is handled—the grasp, the fearlessness, the insight. ¶One wonders whether America has hitherto produced a thinker on religious problems of this caliber.

530 Pages, 8vo. Cloth. Net $4.00. Postpaid $4.22.

The UNIVERSITY of CHICAGO PRESS

CHICAGO AND NEW YORK

Preserve Your Magazines

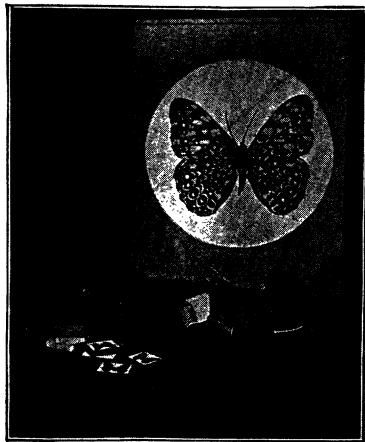

HAVE them bound in Cloth or Leather. It will improve the appearance of your Library at a small expenditure. The University of Chicago Press has a well-equipped job bindery and will be pleased to quote prices.

The University of Chicago Press

Mfg. Dept. Bindery

CHICAGO

THE Reflecting NEW Lantern

For showing on the screen, illustrations in books, engravings, sketches, colored prints, flowers and mechanical models, all brilliantly lighted in natural colors. The outfit is arranged to show both opaque objects and lantern slides, and the change from one to the other may be made instantly. Attachable to any electric magic lantern.

We also manufacture Projecting Microscopes, Projecting Spectroscopes and Lantern Slides to illustrate Educational and Scientific Subjects. Send for list.

WILLIAMS, BROWN & EARLE.
Dept. 30, 918 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

Books for New Testament Study

REVISED EDITION

By CLYDE W. VOTAW

Assistant Professor of New Testament Literature in the University of Chicago

THESE lists, comprising books both popular and professional, are presented in the hope that they may be of assistance to students of the Bible in the selection of books for their study of the New Testament. The number of persons who are endeavoring to gain a historical and literary, as well as a spiritual, understanding of the Bible increases rapidly, and many of them desire guidance in the selection of books from which they may acquire the knowledge sought.

The books named here are those which it is thought will prove most helpful to the present-day student of the New Testament. Different schools of biblical interpretation are represented in the lists, brief annotations being given to characterize the books respecting their point of view, scope, and qualities of particular value. The only consideration in the choice of titles has been the efficiency of the books to promote the best appreciation, knowledge, and use of the New Testament.

56 pp., royal 8vo, paper; net 50 cents, postpaid 53 cents

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS
CHICAGO AND NEW YORK

CLASSICAL PHILOLOGY

Edward Capps, Managing Editor. Published Quarterly. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; single copies, 75 cents. Foreign postage, 25 cents.

The first number of Classical Philology, a Quarterly Journal devoted to research in the languages, literatures, history, and life of Classical Antiquity and to reviews of current publications in these fields, was issued from the University of Chicago Press in January, 1906. The regular dates of publication will be the months of January, April, July, and October.

This Journal is established in the conviction that classical studies in America have so developed during the last quarter of a century as to demand an additional medium of publication, and that the establishment of such a journal will not only meet this need but also foster and encourage research, and materially help to raise the level of classical studies in America. The co-operation of classical scholars in America and Europe is solicited. The name "Philology" will be broadly interpreted by the editors, and contributions will be welcomed upon all subjects which fall within the scope of such interpretation.

In addition to formal articles stating the results of investigations, especial attention will be given to reviews of books and monographs. Hitherto American scholars have been obliged to look mainly to Europe for reviews of current philological literature. It will be the aim of the editors to supply in this department a real need by the prompt publication of critical notices of American, as well as of European, work. Opportunity will also be offered under the special caption of notes and discussions for short contributions and for the brief discussion of matters of current interest.

Classical Philology is not intended to be a local or private undertaking. Its board of associate editors consists of distinguished scholars who represent many institutions of learning. The connection of these scholars with the Journal will not be nominal but real.

Subscriptions and other business communications should be sent to the University of Chicago Press. Manuscripts for publication and books for review should be sent to the Managing Editor, Edward Capps, at the University of Chicago.

THE CLASSICAL JOURNAL

Arthur Fairbanks and Gordon J. Laing, Managing Editors. Published eight times a year under the auspices of the Classical Association of the Middle West and South. Subscription price, $1.50 a year; single copies, 25 cents. Foreign postage, 25 cents.

The first number of the Classical Journal was issued in the month of December, 1905. The first volume will consist of six numbers; succeeding volumes will consist of eight numbers each year, and the dates of issue will be the first of each month from November to June inclusive.

Although the classical teachers of Germany, for example, have a half-dozen journals devoted to their interests as teachers, there is no medium of this kind in the United States, or, in fact, in the English-speaking world. The teachers of mathematics and of the natural sciences have their organizations and their journals, which have proved most effective instruments for the raising of standards of instruction and for the spread of intelligent interest in these subjects, both in school and college and among the people at large. There can be little doubt that the lack of similar media of professional communication among classical teachers has been in no small degree responsible for many of the adverse conditions against which they have had to contend. A marked improvement in these conditions is one of the results to which teachers of Greek and Latin may look forward with confidence if the Classical Journal succeeds in reaching the teachers whose interests it is designed to foster.

The scope of the Classical Journal is best indicated by the departments which will be maintained in each number. These are:

Editorials, discussing briefly matters of current interest to teachers and students of the classics.

Articles. A portion of each number will be given to original contributions. It will be the aim of the editors to obtain articles which will embody the results of critical investigation without showing too technical a treatment. Papers have already been promised by a very large number of representative men from all parts of the country.

Notes and Discussions, consisting of short articles, brief critiques of theories advanced in this or in other journals, and rejoinders.

Reports, from various departments of the classical field.

Book Reviews will constitute one of the most important parts of the journal. The editors propose to give as much space as possible to signed reviews, both of philological investigations and of textbooks in the different branches of classical studies.

Subscriptions and other business communications should be addressed to the University of Chicago Press. Manuscripts for publication and books for review should be sent to the Managing Editors, Gordon J. Laing and Arthur Fairbanks, at the University of Chicago.

ADDRESS

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS
CHICAGO AND NEW YORK